Art Unit: 1755

Claims 1-13 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 112, second paragraph, as failing to set forth the subject matter which applicant(s) regard as their invention.

The terms "predominant" particle size are indefinite throughout the claims. Removal of "predominant" from these claims is advised.

Claim 1 is indefinite because there is no difference between fly ash and aluminous material. Fly ash itself is an aluminous material so the claim is indefinite. Applicants may consider incorporation of claim 3 into claim 1.

The terms "a water reduction effect" is somewhat vague. Deletion of "a water reduction effect" and replacement with ----water reduction--- is advised in claim 1.

The terms fast setting versus extra fast setting would appear indefinite. How does one distinguish between "fast" and "extra-fast"? See claim 6.

The terms "modified cements" would appear vague in claim 6. What cements are modified and how?

The terms "such as" are indefinite in claim 6. Also, the terms "and the like" are also indefinite in claim 6.

The term "conventional" plasticizer is indefinite. Deletion of "conventional" is advised.

The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(a) the invention was known or used by others in this country, or patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country, before the invention thereof by the applicant for a patent.

Art Unit: 1755

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

(e) the invention was described in a patent granted on an application for patent by another filed in the United States before the invention thereof by the applicant for patent, or on an international application by another who has fulfilled the requirements of paragraphs (1), (2), and (4) of section 371(c) of this title before the invention thereof by the applicant for patent.

The changes made to 35 U.S.C. 102(e) by the American Inventors Protection Act of 1999 (AIPA) do not apply to the examination of this application as the application being examined was not (1) filed on or after November 29, 2000, or (2) voluntarily published under 35 U.S.C. 122(b). Therefore, this application is examined under 35 U.S.C. 102(e) prior to the amendment by the AIPA (pre-AIPA 35 U.S.C. 102(e)).

The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

Claims 1-13 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(a,b, and e) as anticipated by or, in the alternative, under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as obvious over Duselis et al. '146, Sakai '740, Styron '480, Styron '137, Brothers et al. '921B1, Styron '632, Liskowitz et al. '475, Brook et al. '458, Brook et al. '310, Francis et al. '518, Kirkpatrick et al. '283 and '889, Onan et al. '521, Smetana et al. '255, Majumdar et al. '197, Lowe '548, Wills Jr '316, Dunston JR '504, or Minnick '134 or '408.

All of the above cited references teach a composition comprising cement and fly ash thus anticipating the instant invention. Even if not anticipated, overlapping ranges of amounts would have been prima facie obvious to one of ordinary skill in the art.

Art Unit: 1755

Also, some reference teach calcium sulfate or gypsum (synonymous terms) which are both examples of hydraulic binders. Further, Duselis '146, Sakai et al., and Styron '480 and '137 all teach compositions containing fly ash, cement, and alumina also anticipating the instant invention. Again, even if not anticipated, overlapping ranges of amounts would have been prima facie obvious to one of ordinary skill in the art.
